

Dr. Anoop Pulickal is a board-certified neonatologist at Adventhealth for Children. As a Rhodes Scholar, he received his Ph.D. in Pediatric Infection and Immunity from the University of Oxford. He was the Chief Resident at the New York Presbyterian Methodist Hospital pediatrics residency program and Chief Fellow at the Neonatal-Perinatal fellowship program at Brown university. Dr. Pulickal is the principal investigator on several clinical trials in the neonatal population with a focus on neonatal sepsis and nutrition. With multiple peer-reviewed publications and 500+ citations, his academic interests include donor human milk nutrition, infection prevention and antibiotic stewardship. He also serves as the Medical Director of the Mothers' Milk Bank of Florida, the only donor milk bank in the state of Florida. Dr. Pulickal is a member of the Infectious Diseases Society of America and fellow of the American Academy of Pediatrics and the Society for Pediatric Research.